Eggstravaganza!

Eggtivities

Egg Roll (not the food kind!)

Have an Egg Roll race down a nearby hill to see who wins! This game is played with hard-boiled, decorated eggs. Grab the paint, markers or stickers and let the kids get creative with their individual racing eggs before they set off for the big roll. Anything goes...have fun with this!

Egg Toss

Players toss eggs back and forth without dropping them. Any type of egg works for this game (raw, hard-boiled or plastic) depending on how daring you are! Pairs of players start close together with only a few feet between them. After successfully tossing and catching the egg, the pairs must move back a step each for a greater distance and another throw. Continue widening the gap to make the game more of a challenge.

Eggseperiments

Sink or Swim

Fill two clear glasses with warm water: Add 10 tablespoons of salt to one glass and stir till dissolved. Add an egg to each glass and see what happens! Next, empty out half the salt water and fill back up with warm water. What happens now?

Ever bounce an egg?

Put an egg in a cup and fill with white vinegar to cover the egg. Let it sit for 3 days. Egg shell will disappear and it should feel rubbery. Rinse the egg with water and let dry for 2 days. Then bounce that egg! Start low and gentle and then see how high it can go without breaking!

Eggciting Art

Tissue Paper Eggs

Cut color tissue paper into pieces (strips & triangles). Spray a hardboiled egg with water. Lay pieces of tissue on the egg. They will stick anywhere the egg is wet. Continue layering tissue on the egg until it is completely covered, then give it one more spray of water. Set it aside for about 10 minutes while you work on other eggs. At the end of 10 minutes the paper will be mostly dry. Peel it off to reveal your colored egg.

Some Eggstra Fun

- Read the book Green Eggs and Ham (Add green food coloring to your eggs and have them for breakfast)
- Make an egg your pet (give it a face, name and take care of it for a day)
- Sing the Humpty Dumpty song
